EXERCISE FOR THE EYES.

Absolutely Necessary in Order That the Vision May Be Preserved.

When the eyes are treated fairly, they are strengthened, not weakened, by work. Just as the arms of a blacksmith grow the stronger for his trade, so the eyes of watchmakers who work under healthy conditions are found to improve and not to deteriorate in vigor and quickness. It is the abuse of the eyes, not their use, which is to be avoided.

If a man is aware either that his eyes need no artificial correction or else have received their proper adjustment, and if his work, whether literary or mechanical, is done in a light both steady and sufficient and with a due regard to ordinary sanitary rules, he may feel sure that he is strengthening his eyes, not weakening them by hard work. Men of intellectual pursuits sometimes are afraid of losing their mental powers in old age because they have drawn so much upon them when young. The reverse is nearer the truth, and if they have not overtaxed their brains the fear is absolutely groundless.

The man whose intellect goes first in old age is generally some farmer or laborer who has never strengthened and invigorated it by use; not the politician, the lawyer or the man of letters. So with the eyes. Those who had strengthened their eyes by using them properly keep keen sight longer than those who have never trained them. In the case of the man who has neglected to give his eyes full development they will fail in power along with his other bodily functions. When, however, the man who, born with good eyes, has kept them in constant hard work and yet never strained them reaches old age, he may find them capable of performing their functions better than any other organ of the body.—Philadelphia Times.

Dr. Boyd, at one time surgeon on the City of Rome, says in The Lancet that administrations of chlorobrom and attention to diet will insure the passage of immunity from sickness.

Swedish Men and Women.

What enormous fellows and what livelier persons some of these Swedish men and women are! Nowhere will you see such noble specimens of adult humanity as in Stockholm's streets. The feature seems to pervade all classes, though it is not least striking among the nobility. Six feet is a common height for a man here, and really I do not believe I exaggerate in saying that men of 6 feet 3 or 4 inches are as abundant in Stockholm as men of 6 feet with us.

The tallness of the women is just as noteworthy. You remark it less, however, because they are so well proportioned. They say it is easy to tell by the size of the boots outside the doors which rooms of a hotel are occupied by the Swedish fair. This is a very endurable hit at the Swedish ladies. Though they do wear sizes or sevens in shoe leather, no sculptor would find fault with them on professional grounds. Moreover, they have must winnow complexions, and of course blue eyes are nowhere more intensely blue than here.

It is comforting to know—I speak on the evidence of one of the pensionnaires—that Swedish maidens have a great admiration for English bachelors. They read French novels, but they believe in English bridge games. The blood bond still exists, I suppose, between them and us.—Cornhill Magazine.

The Seat of the Drama.

At a certain 5 o'clock tea the other day one dashing creature demanded: "Do tell me, Mabel, what organ we think with? I know we love with the heart and hear with the ears, but I've entirely forgotten how it is about thoughts."

Mabel's pretty face was suspended over the samovar. "Papa says I think with my tongue."

"Impossible!" breaks in a college sophomore: "it is done with the mind." "Oh, I know better than that!" frowns the dashing creature. "The mind is what you make up when you want to do things."

"The heart," insists the sophomore. "If you like that any better—the seat of the brain."

"Oh, dearie me!" sighs she at the samovar, "that explains something. I didn't know brains had a seat. It must be, then, that mine never get up."—New York Recorder.

You'll find her smiling night and day, Although at times she is not gay. And should you wonder why you meet This constant smile, regard her teeth. She only laughs them gems to show, Which SOZODONT makes as white as snow.

The property which Governor and Mrs. McKinley conveyed to trustees last summer when the Governor was forced to make an assignment by the failure of a Youngstown manufacturer for whom he had endorsed notes has been transferred back to them.

Arobis Farrington came down from Carson yesterday on the local train and went to San Francisco last night. He reports very dull times in Esmeralda county, all owing to the low price of silver which practically prevents all efforts at silver mining. While here he expressed the opinion that if Grover Cleveland and John Sherman were transported to the happy hunting grounds of the hereafter, Southern Nevada would not mourn.

THE STATE LINE TRAGEDY.

The Bodies of Wheeler and Thrasher Found—Death Came to Them Painlessly.

The party of Odd Fellows and members of the Guards mentioned in yesterday morning's JOURNAL, which organized night before last to go up to State Line and assist in the search for the entombed woodchoppers, after waiting until nearly 4 o'clock yesterday morning for the delayed train to start, received word from Superintendent Whited that they would be charged 75 cents each for fare. This was not in accordance with what they understood the night before, as they thought they had been granted free transportation. The matter was discussed and it was decided to go up by private conveyance. Gus Koppe agreed to furnish two of his busses and another was secured of Mr. Hymers. The rescuers left here thirty-two strong at 5 o'clock and arrived at the scene of the disaster at half past 10 o'clock. At Verdi they were joined by twelve others and together they began their difficult task. The Verdi members came prepared with about twenty long iron rods, which were found to be of splendid service, and led ultimately to the recovery of two of the bodies of the victims, Wheeler and Thrasher.

The rods were pushed down in the snow until they reached the earth or were intercepted by something lying in the snow. Often this was a log or boulder, but in every instance some one was set to work with a shovel to dig down to it and discover its true character.

At one place 500 yards below where the cabins stood a blanket was found, and at another place an undergarment belonging to Wheeler.

FINDING OF WHEELER.

It was about 1 o'clock when one of the searchers was rewarded with the finding, with his iron alpenstock, of something in the snow about three hundred yards below the site of the cabins, that felt like a human body. Instantly several shovels were set to work, and at a depth of about six feet, lying upon his face upon the old snow, was the form of Wheeler. His limbs were stretched out naturally with the exception that one of his legs was bent upwards, and underneath his breast one hand was doubled. Not an impression in the snow indicated that any struggle had taken place nor any depression below his nose or face indicated that he had ever breathed after the first terrible shock had deprived him of life. Death, so far as ever will be known, came to him instantly and painlessly. His body bore no marks or bruises excepting a slight cut upon the hand.

After the body was taken out it was wrapped in a blanket and conveyed down the two miles of steep and slippery frozen snow upon a sled improvised of two snowshoes, the same which had borne young Ede down to Hamilton's mill. On arriving at the foot of the canyon it was put in a wagon and taken to Verdi in charge of E. O. Krans of the Odd Fellows, who there constructed a rude coffin in which it was brought down to Reno on the swing train, Mr. Krans accompanying the remains.

THE FINDING OF THRASHER.

But there was another sad object on that train which had been up on board the cars at State Line; it was the body of Thomas Thrasher which had been found about three hours after the finding of Wheeler, but in a different manner. A dog belonging to Sam Wiley, which had followed the party from here up to the place, was made to smell the body of Wheeler. He was then sent over the snow and with his keen nose to the snow-crust the animal, as though understanding the nature of his mission, ran swiftly back and forward while the men worked. Three-quarters of a mile below where the cabin stood the dog suddenly thrust his nose into the snow and began digging with his paws.

Wiley, who was near by ran to the place and thrust down his alpenstock. About four feet below the surface it touched some foreign substance. At once the men began digging and soon uncovered the body of Thomas Thrasher. It was lying naturally, strange to say, upon the bed where he was lying when the disaster came. Beneath him were the blankets and two mattresses and under his head was the pillow which the avalanche, in its wild progress, had not displaced. After being removed his body was carried down the mountain side by means of the blankets and placed upon the train.

THE OTHER BODIES.

About half a mile below the site of the cabin a cut was made across the canyon which was dug down about seven feet. In this cut portions of the bodies were found, a door lock, various other articles and two blood clots. It is believed that near here will be found the body of Michael Wanner. The body of Leon Nelson is expected to be found near where Thrasher was discovered, as he was scuffling with him at the time the avalanche struck them. The rescuers toiled all day without rest, scarcely stopping long enough to eat. It was nearly sundown when they ceased work and went down the mountain.

As another party from Reno had arrived to relieve them, the following came on to Reno:

R. C. Leeper, B. F. Oulter, J. Shaver, Rob Ede, Geo. Bliss, Gus Koppe, Dr. Phelps, Seth Trolor, Justus Taylor, Frank Lievre, Walter Dewing, R. V. Borden.

Charley Leeper, it is feared, froze one of his feet while getting Wheeler's body out, as in the excitement he did not notice that it had become benumbed.

UNDER THE DOME.

The Bland Seigniorage Bill—Its Discussion—Walker River Reservation.

The Bland bill is occupying the attention of Congress at the present time and some lively tilts are occurring. Able speeches are being made. Its passage is probable within a week or so. Tracey the leader of anti-silver forces concedes its passage. The text of the bill is as follows:

"A bill directing the coinage of the silver bullion held in the Treasury, and for other purposes.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury shall immediately issue silver certificates of the same denominations and monetary functions as is now provided by law for silver certificates, in the amount equal to the seigniorage of the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of the Act of July fourteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety, entitled 'An Act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of Treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes,' to-wit: The sum of fifty-five million one hundred and eighty-six thousand six hundred and eighty-eight dollars. That such silver certificates shall be immediately available for the payment of the current expenditures of the Government, and all laws relating to silver certificates, as far as practicable shall be applicable to the silver certificates herein authorized. That said seigniorage shall be coined as fast as possible into legal tender standard silver dollars and the coins held in the Treasury for the redemption of the silver certificates.

"Sec. 2. That the remainder of the silver bullion purchased in pursuance of said Act of July fourteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety, shall be coined into legal tender standard silver dollars as fast as practicable, and the coin held in the Treasury for the redemption of the Treasury notes issued in the purchase of said bullion. That as fast as the bullion shall be coined for the redemption of said notes, the notes shall not be reissued but shall be canceled and destroyed in amounts equal to the coin held at any time in the Treasury, and silver certificates may be issued on such coin in the manner now provided by law.

"Sec. 3. That a sufficient sum of money is hereby appropriated to carry into effect the provisions of this act." Congressmen Newlands has introduced a bill to forfeit Walker River Indian Reservation and also a portion of the Pyramid Lake Reservation. The bill was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs, from which a favorable report is expected in the near future.

A Common Occurrence.

We recommend the following as a bright example of the consummate gall which some newspapers are gifted with. It is taken from the Associated Press dispatches, and is based upon the old and beautiful maxim, "Blessed is he who tooteth his own horn, for he who tooteth not his own horn, the same shall not be tooteth."

Reno, Nev., Feb. 21.—A Gazette special from Verdi says a disastrous snowslide occurred in the mountains five miles from the State Line Mill, yesterday, etc., etc.

The circumstances connected with the JOURNAL's "scoop" of the story of the above-mentioned disaster is so fresh in the public mind that comment is unnecessary.

"Among the Breakers."

The North Truckee Dramatic Company is in active rehearsal and on Friday evening, March 2d, in Douche's hall, at Glendale, the thrilling drama, "Among the Breakers," will be produced, followed by the side-splitting farce called, "Sallie Parkin's Night's Lodging." Admission 50 and 25 cents.

Reminiscences of a Noted Pioneer of the Times When Men Made Money.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Believing that you at all times have in view the welfare of the masses of our people, I ask you to give place in your columns to the speech made by one of the old California pioneers, a Mr. Majors, in favor not only of silver but for the tolling masses and two million poor who are today suffering on account of the exactions of the bondholders and backed up by John Sherman of Ohio and Grover Cleveland, President of the United States. I know not what political party Mr. Majors belongs to and don't care, but whether Republican, Democrat or Populist, I say all hail to him and may tea thousand repeat what he said in favor of justice and humanity. Following is the address referred to which was delivered before the Transmississippi Congress last week at San Francisco. Respectfully,

H. H. B.

RENO, February 21, 1894.
At the Wednesday session of the Congress, Alexander Majors, originator of the pony express system in vogue in the late '40's and early '50's, a man in his 82d year, but hale and hearty still, was called for and gave the Congress the benefit of his long experience in the West. He said:

"I was a full fledged business man at the time gold was discovered in California. I have been in existence long enough to become history myself. When I was a young man there was no money in the country, or so little of it as to amount to nothing. And yet we were independent and self-sustaining. You couldn't buy a man's vote in those days, either. Then the gold fever came, and mark the change. In the next four years after the gold was discovered the gold was not held stagnant in the banks. It went into the leather sacks and pockets of, say, one hundred thousand men and they went back to the states and silver was put into the pockets of the United States. That gold and silver raised the value of property nearly 100 per cent. I lived in Missouri and my farm doubled in value, and so it was all over. Think of it, these hundred thousand men and women, a double price on everything of value in the United States. Everybody was happy, and everybody had money in their pockets.

"Suppose that should happen to-day. Think how many could pay off their mortgages and tide the time over and be happy. But it does not happen. The reverse has happened. Money is tied up and silver is valueless. Gentlemen, this is a crisis in the history of my whole life. I have seen nothing like it. These millions of mortgages must be foreclosed. The money is going into stagnant pools. Nothing is being done, and people are starving. Now for a change. For coinage unlimited coinage—would set 200,000 men working. That means $600,000 a day going into the people's hands. At once the people could go into the cities and buy machinery and start the industry of a new and better basis. There is lots of money in the country, they say. So there is, but it is behind doubly locked bars, and only the burglar can get at it. I wish he would, and blow it all over where good people could get their hands on it. [Laughter and applause.]

GOLD AND SILVER TWIN METALS.
"Gold and silver are found together—twin metals placed by nature in the same cradle. They are one by nature. And I say those whom nature has bound together let no man tear them asunder. [Laughter.]

"Knowing that all the lands in the United States were bought with silver dollars, knowing of the sacrifices that were made by the pioneers of the West who paid for its lands and found its silver mines, is it any wonder that I cry out against the brutal monster that threatens to crush the life out of the industries of that country and debase the money on which it depends?

"We want money, my friends, and we want it for all of us, and not for a few. I am an old man now and waiting for the shroud, and glad I shall be to embrace it when it comes. I have no future, but you young men have, and, oh, gentlemen, I want to see you put your shoulders to the wheel and see this thing through. Pledge your Representatives to help you out of this money trouble. If they go back on you, brand them and spurn them. Have nothing further to do with those corrupt legislators who when they come home are kissed by their mother behind the ear because they dare not look them in the face.

"I close with this. If you could get $100,000 into free circulation among the people it is no good that all the legislation Congress could do in ten years.

"You might as well expect to cut down trees without axes as to encourage industry without the use of free silver dollars."

Hard Times Ball.

A large number of people attended the masquerade ball last evening, although but few went en masque. After marching about the hall a short time the masquers unmasked and all present enjoyed themselves until an early hour dancing.

La Grippe.

During the prevalence of the grippe the past seasons it was a noticeable fact that those who depended upon Dr. King's New Discovery, not only had a speedy recovery, but escaped all of the troublesome after effects of the malady. This remedy seems to have a peculiar power in affecting rapid cures of La Grippe, but in all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs, and has cured cases of Asthma and Hay Fever of long standing. Try it and be convinced. It won't disappoint. Free Trial Bottles at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

The Spleen

—Not the ill-humor you feel like venting upon some offender, but the spleen near the stomach, which supplies the proper amount of blood to the stomach during digestion. But both are affected by a torpid liver. A torpid liver excites the spleen, ill-humor, and destroy the bodily organ; but an active liver, prompted by Simmon's Liver Regulator, destroys the spleen and excites to right action the digestive organs, then no more dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy try Electric Bitters. If "La Grippe" has left you weak and weary, use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on liver, stomach and kidneys, gently aiding those organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with sick headache you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50c, at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

In Cold Weather

The most effective method of preventing roughness, chapping and breaking of the skin is to use Cocona Balm. A few applications will render the skin soft and smooth and it costs only 25 cents per bottle. It gives satisfaction to all who use it.
